As We See It...

Reply To Walker

In our Tuesday issue Leonard Walker, a&s junior, "spanked" Ka Leo for its editorial policy "in reference to the Dear Joe editorials of the Honolulu Advertiser."

Mr. Walker wrote "a college paper should not take it upon itself to take to task the policy of the editor of either local paper unless it affects the university or the students of the university."

He then proceeded to assert, "Near as I can see these editorials do neither. They do vitally affect the people of the Territory, etc..."

Walker to the contrary, Ka Leo, for some reason, fails to see any distinction between "students of the university" and "people of the Territory." UH students and their families constitute a sizeable segment of the Territory's population.

So far as our spat with the Advertiser is concerned, it makes relatively little difference to us which side that paper supports in the strike. That's the Tiser's business and its prerogative as an American newspaper. On the other hand, the method it employs to present its side is another case entirely. And so is any other possible "motive" which might be hidden from the naked eye, but is existent nonetheless.

Not too long ago this student body voted overwhelmingly in favor of statehood. We even had a model constitutional convention, to which Mr. Walker was a delegate. With that information as a guide, though it is only a college paper, Ka Leo refuses to sit back timidly while foes of statehood make capital of the strike situation.

Needless to say, we back neither side in the labor dispute. But we do back Hawaiian statehood and will do all that we can to protect that cause from vicious attack.

It is our frank opinion that the "Dear Joe" campaign is directed more at smearing these Islands than the labor union involved. How unfortunate it is Mr. Walker does not realize that himself.

Their Best Bet

The student artistry unveiled by the music department during the past two weeks has left the campus breathless. Our collective appetites have been whetted for still more of the same dish.

It has come to our attention that next year Theatre Guild is planning to stage a musical production in collaboration with the music department, and that as yet no choice has been made.

Many students have expressed a keen desire to see "The Mikado," Gilbert and Sullivan's melodious farce on Japanese court life, put on here. In our opinion, a wiser selection could not be made.

"The Mikado" is a natural for the local scene. We have the talent; costumes present no problem whatsoever; and the operetta is so universally popular that a box office sell out is a foregone conclusion.

We pass this suggestion on to TG and the music people for serious consideration. "The Mikado" is their best bet, and we hope they take it.

Letters From The Readers

HEAP PRAISES ON MUSIC DEPT.

EDITOR KA LEO:

We wish to express our sincere gratification to the UH music department for an evening of enjoyment and relaxation at last Sunday's concert at Farrington hall.

The UH chorus, symphonic band, and the soloists gave a truly magnificent performance, going through the difficult numbers flawlessly. The ovation following each rendition expressed only a small measure of the audience's appreciation.

To Mr. Norman Rian, Mr. Ernest McClain, and Mr. Richard Vine go our congratulations for the highly successful recital. Only a well-trained group of singers and musicians could have done such an excellent job.

The manner in which the students performed Sunday night reflected a characteristic far more important than the unity with which they sang and played—the educational value derived from the training and expert guidance offered by three great instructors. The precision, coordination, and timing displayed by the artists can be attained only through hard and conscientious work. This was clearly brought out by the efficacy of their performance.

May we express once again our heartfelt thanks to the music department for the Sunday night concert, which to us was a fitting climax for a year marked with a number of successful recitals.

CHAIRMAN THANKS HIS COMMITTEE

EDITOR KA LEO:

Comments heard on campus about the Junior-Senior Prom have been highly gratifying. Financially, we ended with a profit. The spirit of co-operation and willingness predominating throughout the whole affair was above expectation. . .

It is impossible to hold any person responsible for the success . . . but there were some who deserve special commendation. Grace Kumashiro was an assistant chairman beyond compare. Kenneth Sano, dance treasurer, Katherine Uemura, secretary, Ruth Watanabe, refreshments, Thelma Chock, tickets, Mildred Yonemura, invitations, Jean Akimoto, decoration, Yoon Cho Chung, clean up and decoration, Masa Kamisato, senior adviser, and many others who worked at the booths and at the dance deserve glowing praises.

In behalf of the Junior class and the Dance committee, I would like to extend my deepest appreciation to all these persons for a job of unsurpassable quality.

FUTURE EDUCATOR

Good Looking Dewey Kim Eyes Politics

By BETTY WONG

Ka Leo Feature Editor

Perhaps being born on Independence Day in Washington, D.C., was a prophetic sign for tall, good-looking, soft-spoken Dewey Kim, who is now a junior majoring in government.

He first became interested in government administration while serving as student body president at Stevenson intermediate school.

* * *

THERE, HE was greatly influenced in his present choice of studies by his principal, Dr. Robert Clopton, now director of secondary education at Teachers college.

"Dr. Clopton helped us a lot in giving us much freedom to develop our own initiative," he said.

* * *

AT ROOSEVELT high school he was vice president and later president of the student body.

Furthering his interest in politics at UH, he has filled many ASUH offices with ability and efficiency, some of which were freshman councilman, sophomore class president, and BOG member. In the recent election, he won a senior councilman post for the coming school year.

* * *

NOT ONLY is he alert to school politics, the energetic go-getter has also been keeping himself well informed on local Territorial affairs as well.

DEWEY KIM

"It's surprising," he commented, "but some of the members of the legislature don't know a lot of basic things we learned in government 150."

* * *

WHY THE INTEREST in government administration? When things come up, he answered, it's good to have a feeling that you know something about them.

Dewey's ambition is to someday become an instructor in government. "I always wanted to teach something," he explained, although he had no definite plans until his sophomore year.

* * *

PROOF OF HIS capabilities is in his being the first to be awarded the Wah Kau Kong scholarship, which was given last year to the outstanding soph in scholastic achievement and extra-curricular activities. The award was made by Peng Hui.

A great athlete since high school days, Dewey is a constant participant in Intramural affairs. He and Takashi Matsui were recently appointed ASUH representatives to BAC.

* * *

ANOTHER OF Dewey's interests is the ROTC. One of his treasured trophies is a saber he received for a best company commander award during his senior year at Roosevelt high.

At present, he is captain in the UH ROTC and serves as commander of Company K. Together with other candidates for reserve commissions he will receive training at Fort Lewis, Washington, this summer.

* * *

"AFTER CAMP is over," he mused, contemplating good times, "George Koga, Herbert Chun, Stanley Miyake, and I, plan to motor to the east coast."

MANOA MERRY GO ROUND

PAUL KOKUBUN

ALOHA TO A GRAND INSTITUTION, FROM 400 GRADUATES

It was a rough and tough grind all the way, but the fact that only one (sigh!) more day remains on the trek toward graduation is reason enough for joy.

Yes, the time has come at last for the class of '49 to part with UH, and for my passengers to take a last ride on the merry-go-round. The operator is now ready to hibernate at some distant corner of the globe.

Many of us can hardly believe that we are about to leave this grand institution. We've been here for a long time, anywhere from four to 10 years, and we've worked so hard, and had so much fun—all of which will enable us to look back, with nostalgia, over the years spent on campus.

Ivy Orator Hideto Kono expressed very well the idea of what we as potential alumni will be missing when he said, "The years we have spent in this institution have made possible our developing skills, and tokens of esthetic appreciation that we could not have developed anywhere else.

"The four years of close study of bathing suits at Ka Palapala contests have made us excellent connoisseurs of fabrics. The registration day procedures have adequately prepared us to meet the eventuality of a depression and the consequence of having to stand in bread lines.

"In terms of the development of our physical skills, we've become extremely adept at kicking the round seeds from social science building to Gartley; and we've become excellent dodgers of water sprinklers.

"In terms of esthetic appreciation, we've begun to learn to appreciate the poems of budding Byrons which lay immortalized upon the doors of our rest rooms."

It is these things, and the many other experiences of adventure, cramming, and proms that we'll be reminiscing about after June 14.

For those of us who have been here since '39, the fact that we have come so far is like a prizefighter having survived 10 rounds of gruelling battle, and winning.

This feeling of triumph more than makes up for the deficit of having spent as any as 10 years on campus. It was no fault of ours, though, that we did. Ole Uncle Sam'l invited us to help him out for a few years, and we obliged.

On the other hand, there are those who glided through four consecutive years with flying colors. These are the skippers who successfully steered the good ship, '49, from the rough waters of the '45 post-war era to the shore of security and happiness. This shore, of course, is graduation.

To them belongs all the credit for having molded together our class the past four years. Meanwhile the vets and the old married men gradually trudged back to campus, and joined them in their climaxing cruise.

Not only then is the class of '49 unique because it comprises the largest graduating unit in the history of this university. More so, because it is a conglomeration of youth and old age, working together side by side, pooling their strength and energies to bring to a successful end a common struggle.

Our accomplishments? The record of the '49ers speaks for itself. Besides garnering laurels and crowns in the Ka Palapala beauty contest, we've had our share of intellectual greats. Imagine, 20 of us having maintained grade point averages of 3.4 for seven semesters, thus gaining membership in the Phi Kappa Phi.

Journalists, orators, thespians, scientists, athletes, and politicians. We have 'em all.

Through these students and other achievements too numerous to mention, we hope to have served the purpose of being recognized by the underclassmen not as martyrs, but as sources of inspiration for further gains.

To our regret, we have only one failure to mar our record. Although the senate rejection of the finals exemption request is now history, we feel that we have laid the groundwork for next year's seniors to carry on. Our only wish is that they succeed.

In addition to learning about ourselves and our fellow men during our long tenure of college education, we have learned something else. We have come to realize that we have not mastered all there is to know.

To this university must go our thanks for developing 400 intelligent, alert citizens. We can readily assume the duties and responsibilities of citizens of a community much bigger than the Manoa campus.

While June 14 means our physical parting from UH, we shall still be a part of this school, as alumni, long after commencement day. Entering the UH alumni association as the class of '49 is now one of our primary objectives. By so doing, we hope to perpetuate the distinguished record we are about to leave behind.

And so, all 400 of us doff our mortarboards in gratitude to a grand institution and bid Aloha on this, the final run of the merry-go-round. The hour of departure is at hand.

Hale Laulima Gets Nod Over Sorority Stars

Coach Tommy Kaulukukui's Roaring Rainbows, divided into two outfits, take to the gridiron of Honolulu stadium tomorrow night at 7:30 for their annual intra-squad tilt, and it looks like a White victory is in the making.

Although possessing a stronger team on paper, the Greens are reported to lack the reserve manpower of the Whites.

* * *

ALL THE LADS will be vying for berths on the regular Varsity team.

Heading the Whites will be Dick Mamiya, Bill Bonner, Charlie Besette, Bobby Moore, Saburo Takayesu, and Eugene Paoa, while the Greens boast Sol Kaulukukui, Harry Kahuanui, Kiyoshi Matsuo, Jimmy Asato, and Bob Shabacker.

* * *

DURING HALFTIME a touch football classic between the Sorority All Stars, captained by Martha "Strong" Stenberg, and Hale Laulima's Mongrels, led by Winona "Long" Ellis, will be unleashed. Hale Laulima is given the edge in this fray.

Mongrel co-coaches Johnny Dang and Danny Katz announced they're planning a "wide open offensive" with plenty of razzle dazzle.

* * *

ED SATO, head mentor of the All Stars, said he was highly pleased with his team's practice sessions and "the gals are all set to go."

Included on the Mongrel roster are Ellis, Barbara Tongg, Puna Olds, Vera Dwight, Yvonne Ozaki, Cynthia Ching, Ruth Ogawa, Evelyn Morikawa, Elsa McFarlane, Ruth Awai, and Jackie Booth.

* * *

THE ALL STARS claim Stenberg, Kinau Boyd, Ivanelle Mountcastle, Gwen Botelho, Kay Maggioros, Bobbie Davis, Wanda Holt, and Virginia McGregor.

Other names probably will be added before game time.

Students need their athletic cards to get into the stadium without paying.

Students Want More Variety, Lower Food Cost At Cafeteria

"The two most common reactions were a plea for more variety and a lower cost of food in relation to the present quality."

So states a report on the UH cafeteria and snack bar compiled after four weeks of intensive surveying by John Phillips, former ASUH vice president.

PHILLIPS COMPILED this "Cafeteria and Snack Bar Survey" for a report writing class, and permitted Ka Leo to quote from it before he handed it in.

"While the survey results (based on 302 questionnaires distributed on a percentage basis) indicate that student patronage of the University Cafeteria and Snack Bar is not necessarily determined by factors under control of the management," the report says, "the attitude of student patrons could be materially improved by changes in the food . . . the prices, and the service . . . by the management."

FORTY THREE per cent of those polled responded "I think the food prices are unreasonable." Only five per cent replied "I like the food," while seven per cent thought "The price is right," according to Phillips' statistics.

Among the personal comments contained in the report were the following:

A&S FRESHMAN—"Four slices of canned beets for 15c. Somebody is making a big profit."

TC graduate student—"I think the price unreasonable too, but even that can't beat the terrible food they serve. Even I can use the can opener and much more cheaply, too."

Students Invited To Art Reception
